

'Confidential Report' Warns Twp. Schools: Go Slow

By SCOOP LEWIS -
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Pennsylvania Economy League, in a confidential report on Bristol Township Schools, has indicated that two-thirds of the district's proposed $2,500,000 building program could be deferred and that there is no urgent need for kindergarten classes.

The report also questioned the economical value of switching to the 2-2-2 secondary system in the 1965-66 school term and making Woodrow Wilson the only graduating high school.

The league also reminded the township that "Wanting the best does not always mean being prepared or able to pay for it." The report noted that school enrollments, salaries and expenditures have soared in the past 10 years, but the market value of taxable property has increased only 78.8 per cent.

The 22-page report, marked "Confidential . . . Not for Public Distribution," was sent by William Hahn, chairman of the League's executive committee, to members of the Bristol Township School Board.

Meeting Tonight

Parts of the report may come in for discussion tonight when the board meets to tentatively adopt its 1964-65 budget of $7-933,593.51. Although it's an increase of $876,165.58 over last year's figure of $7,057,427.93, the real estate tax levy is slated to remain at 74 mills.

Tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock in Benjamin Franklin Junior High School will also include enactment of an expanded mercantile tax and awarding of bids for janitorial supplies and equipment.

The Bucks County Branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League made its study of the Bristol Township School District during the first three months of this year.

The league's report sees no compelling need for additional elementary school facilities and immediate need for only half as much new secondary construction as contemplated.

The report said the township's plans to erect 20 additional elementary classrooms (to Clara Barton and Lafayette Schools at a cost of $590,000) would be (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Good Evening!

Amazing May days they are.

But can't something be done about what are rapidly becoming drought conditions?

General Eisenhower's test for the GOP Presidential nominee being more and more seriously regarded by a lot of aspirants, especially Goldwater and Rockefeller, but we still have a hunch:

Governor William W. Scranton will emerge as the knight on the white horse, when the July convention formalities are ended.

Speaking of Eisenhower — quite a golf match he was engaged in this afternoon at Merion Golf Club near Ardmore.

The ex-President and Arnold Palmer fought it out with Jimmy Demaret and dancer Ray Bolger — for the benefit of the Heart Fund, of course — and this would have been something to see. And we guess some 3,000 people saw it at from $50 to $100 a head.

Those Emmy Awards . . .

Either CBS and ABC were right in refusing to recognize them or we're going to have to become a TV fan. With neither Gunsmoke nor Wagon Train during the first half hour — as long as we could stay with it — we're ready to agree with the recalcitrant networks.

'Project 70'

Committee Kills State Park Fees

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Senate Forests and Waters Committee today killed a proposal to permit the charging of admission fees to state parks created under the $70 million "project 70" program.

Sen. Z. H. Confair, R-Lycoming, committee chairman, said the proposal was inserted Monday in the bill setting up machinery for carrying out the program but was removed at a committee meeting today. He said the committee continued its discussion of the overall measure but failed to report it out because of a hassle over proposed amendments.

Confair said he doubted if another committee meeting would be called until next week. The legislation has been in committees since its introduction in the special session last Feb. 11.

He reported committee Democrats are putting up opposition to key amendments, including one which would provide municipalities with a 20 cents an acre subsidy in lieu of taxes for land acquired under the program. Another amendment which seems likely to be approved would mandate approval by the state Planning Board for any sites to be purchased.

Charges Politics

Farley Tries To Swat Mosquito Nine

Nine new workmen were appointed to the Mosquito Control Commission yesterday by the Bucks County commissioners, but there is a question whether they will be drawing pay checks.

Minority commissioner Walter S. Farley Jr. was outvoted 2-1 on the appointments. Later, at a salary board meeting, he again cast a negative vote.

Farley, a Democrat, maintained that the votes of commissioners John J. Bodley and Joseph O. Canby did not constitute a majority because the fourth member of the salary board, controller William R. Cameron, was absent.

'Unqualified'

The appointments were called "political" by Farley who said that the men were "unqualified to find the mosquito breeding places." He said that several men, some with five to six years' experience, were passed over by Bodley and Canby.

Farley said the dispute would call for a ruling from county solicitor Samuel S. Gray.

★ Reds Shell Laotian HQ

SAM THONG, Laos (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao artillery shelled neutralist commander Gen. Kong Le's command post today and Red troops were reported to have trapped three neutralist companies in a drive that threatened Laos' two capitals of Vientiane and Luang Prabang.

A major in the neutralist army said in this refugee center 12 miles southwest of the Plain of Jars that heavy fighting had erupted northeast of Muong Soui, Kong Le's last stronghold on strategic Route 7.

The officer said Kong Le's command post at Ban Na, where he set up his headquarters to regroup his troops after being driven from the plain by the Communists, was being shelled by Red artillery, with an attack on Muong Soui itself expected momentarily.

More than 6,000 refugees were streaming south from the Plain of Jars in the face of the Red onslaught.

Western military sources said the Communists had cut off neutralist government troops fighting a rearguard action at Muong Kheung, which fell to the Pathet Lao Sunday. Most of the government armored troops fled into the hills, the sources said.

Military sources said the Communists also were closing in on Paksane, 70 miles east of Vientiane, in a campaign of extermination against pro-Western Meo tribesmen driven from their mountain homes by the Red advance. Communist capture of Paksane would put the Reds on the Mekong River and cut Vientiane off from strong rightist forces in the south of Laos.

Finally, his wife realized he was in trouble and a lifeboat picked him up suffering from exhaustion and cramp.

Peru Police Chief Escapes Censure Bid

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — The Chamber of Deputies early today rejected a motion of censure against Interior (Police) Minister Juan Languasco, accused of responsibility for "police brutality" in Sunday's soccer match riot that killed at least 285 persons.

Languasco counter - charged that professional agitators took advantage of the stadium situation to promote disorders which ranged throughout Lima Sunday night and Monday.

Communists and leftists in the opposition-dominated chamber not only sought the ouster of Languasco, but of the cabinet. The chamber, however, rejected their demands.

The chamber debate raged while Communist-led students demonstrated in the streets against the alleged police brutality.

The demonstrators also urged support for the 24-hour "general strike" scheduled tomorrow (Continued on Page 8, Col. 7)

LONDON (UPI)—Red China called today for a 14-nation foreign ministers' conference in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, to deal with the "increasingly grave" situation in Laos.

The Peking government's position in the Laos crisis was disclosed by the New China News Agency which distributed the text of a note sent by Foreign Minister Chen Yi to Britain and Russia as co-chairmen of the Geneva Conference.

The note said "the Chinese government considers that it has become imperative and urgent to convene a conference of the participants of the Geneva agreement . . ."

It said that the conference should be held in Phnom Penh in June.

The Foreign Office in London confirmed that China forwarded a note on the Laos crisis, but did not immediately release details here.

The New China News Agency also broadcast a second note sent to British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler by Chen Yi in which he rejected a request that the Chinese government use its influence with the left-wing Pathet Lao forces in Laos.

According to the agency report, Chen Yi told Butler the Pathet Lao uprising in the Plain of Jars on May 16 was "the inevitable outcome" of the military coup in Vientiane on April 19 and subsequent United States policy.

The Chinese move added to the pressure which has been building up in the past few days in favor of a full - dress conference.

The Soviet Union and France have called for the reconvening of the 14-nation Far Eastern conference in Geneva to discuss the current troubles in Laos.

Britain, along with the United States, still considers a meeting in Vientiane of representatives of the Geneva conference powers must be the first move toward a settlement of the current conflict.

Talks Continue In Vector Co. Strike

Negotiations between union and company representatives continued today in the five-day old strike at Vector plants in Trevose, Southampton and other Lower Bucks County locations, with both sides holding firm.

Dave Lynch, president of Local 138 of the I.U.E. called a meeting of the membership this morning at Trevose Fire House to report on the outcome of yesterday's negotiations and to establish definite picket assignments.

Pickets paraded in an orderly fashion outside the company's main gate on Street Road, Trevose, this morning with only one minor skirmish occurring when two carloads of hourly employees reported to work at 7:40 a.m.

The pickets, numbering about 25 of the striking hourly employees had not interfered with the movement of salaried employees into the plant, but when the two cars approached, the pickets closed ranks.

Bensalem Township police, on the scene since the start of picketing, moved in to open a lane for the cars which proceeded through the jeering pickets. Some pickets carried signs spelling out the word "scab," and one held a sign declaring "Hit me and get a raise."

This referred to yesterday's incident when two pickets received injuries after they were struck by a car entering the main gate.

No Incidents

The two cars contained eight employees and a few moments later several other hourly employees drove their cars past the pickets.

Cites Brescia Dismissal

Gallagher Takes New Swipe At Civil Service Program

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Rep. James J. A. Gallagher has taken a new swipe at Gov. William W. Scranton's civil service program and contends the program has been slammed to his requests for merit system data.

Gallagher, of Bucks County Second District, lashed out yesterday at William G. Murphy, Scranton's secretary, accusing him of invoking a "closed door policy to legislators." The legislator read to the House a letter from Murphy which said the secretary had instructed state agencies not to comply with Gallagher's May 19 request for civil service information.

"It would be impossible to comply with your request without serious harassment to and interference with the performance of the duties of the employees and the efficient functioning of the state departments involved," the letter said.

"The House must take affirmative action to see that we have the right to know," Gallagher urged.

He then turned to the case of Stephen Brescia, Bristol, whose dismissal by the Highways Department after eight years as a construction inspector touched off Gallagher's present battle on civil service.

Gallagher said Brescia met to discuss the firing May 12 with Paul L. Thomas, department district engineer for District 6 with headquarters at Haverford. The legislator said Brescia reported that Thomas had admitted giving him an unsatisfactory performance rating under orders from Bucks County Republican Chairman Myron Harris.

Brescia is a Bristol councilman. Although political activity is barred for civil service workers, Gallagher said Brescia was dropped for unsatisfactory performance and not for political work. The lawmaker said Brescia's most recent ratings had been good.

House Majority Leader Kenneth B. Lee, R-Sullivan, defended the program on the grounds politicians in both major parties were griping about it. He said this "indicates to me something is finally being done about the patronage system in Pennsylvania."

Armed Robberies Trial Under Way

Johnny Price, 24, of Magnolia Gardens, Bristol Township, went on trial in Bucks County Court this morning for two armed robberies of the same service station in Bristol Township last January.

The trial began shortly before noon when the jury was called in. The jury had been excused earlier when President - Judge Edward G. Biester heard a motion to suppress evidence by defense attorney Robert Burke. After hearing testimony the judge denied the motion.

Robbed At Gunpoint

The suspect, who lives at 1821 Aires St., was arrested Jan. 16, 24 hours after an attendant was robbed of $200 at gunpoint while on duty at the Patterson Ave. Hi-Test station on Route 13 near Haines Ave.

Price was arrested by Pt. James Dunn of Bristol Township police.

Dunn had been given a composite sketch of the suspect drawn by Courier-Times artist Ron Keyes from a description given by several witnesses.

Dunn spotted Price at 8 p.m. while on patrol on Beaver Dam Road.

Strike Hits Newtown Firm

Employees of a Newtown firm who just recently voted in a union are out on strike today.

About six employees of Don Sparks Associates, State and Penn Sts., together with union officials, began picketing the business this morning.

The newly voted - in union is the United Glass and Ceramic Workers, AFL-CIO. The union ordered the strike today in a dispute over hourly wages and the company's vacation policy in the first contract since the union was voted in.

Jess Dougherty, president of District 5 of the union, said negotiations broke down Friday, but "we extended negotiations until yesterday in further consideration to the company."

Dougherty said the union asked a 10-cent an hour increase over the pre-contractual wage scale and an additional holiday. He said the company made no wage offer. According to Dougherty, the average wage of the company's 20 to 30 employees is $1.33 an hour.

$200 Stolen From Safe

Bristol Township police are investigating the theft of $200 in cash and stamps from a safe in the A. B. Murray Co. plant on Green Lane at Wilson Ave.

The burglary, which occurred between 8 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. yesterday, was reported to Bristol Township police by Patrolman John Chichilli of the Bristol Borough police.

Roy Seichrist of Elizabeth, N. J., firm president, said $197 in cash and $3 in stamps were missing from a metal petty cash box kept in the walk-in safe.

Thieves broke through a side window and unatched a screen to gain entrance, police reported, after which they punched open the safe.

Scranton-For-President Talks Highlight GOP Deliberations

Backers See 'Wide Open' Convention

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scranton-for-president talk highlights Republican deliberations today at a meeting of GOP leaders to ratify a compromise slate of officials for their San Francisco convention.

Looking for unity they may have trouble finding at the convention, GOP arrangements committee members named Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky as permanent chairman and Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield as keynoter and temporary chairman for the July 13 conclave.

Their recommendations were expected to be approved by the full Republican National Committee today.

Actually, both the backers of front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York — opposing candidates in next Tuesday's California primary — found solace in the convention slate.

See No Significance

Goldwater supporters saw no real significance in the compromise, for the Republican governors' organization had urged Rockefeller for the post won by Morton.

Rockefeller advocates, on the other hand, stressed that Hatfield emerged with the dual role of keynoter and temporary chairman. Hatfield is a Rockefeller delegate.

State and national party leaders assembled here for their final pre-convention conference were looking beyond the Rockefeller-Goldwater contest in California appraising prospects of other presidential possibilities.

And it was Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania who appeared to be getting the major attention. Scranton-for-president supporters, still without an announced candidate, talked hopefully of a "wide open" convention if Goldwater loses the California primary to Rockefeller.

Encouraged By Ike

Their optimism was fed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement Monday urging nomination of one who will back "forward-looking Republicanism."

Warren J. Sinsheimer, chairman of a National Scranton-for-President Committee which he said is now organized in 31 states, predicted that if Rockefeller wins in California, Scranton "will be nominated no later than the fourth ballot."

Sinsheimer declined to forecast what would happen if Goldwater won California's 86 convention votes. Many Republicans believe it would be difficult for a "stop Goldwater" effort to succeed in that event.

Lower Bucks Companies To Be Honored

Safety Is First For These 11 Firms

Eleven Lower Bucks firms will be honored tomorrow for heeding the timeless slogan, "Safety First."

They are among 188 companies to be cited as winners in the 10th annual Industrial Inter-Plant Safety Achievement Contest conducted by the safety council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia.

Special Recognition

Three local firms are among the 21 winners of special recognition for going through four million manhours without a lost-time accident and — or four years without such injuries. They are the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, the Pennsalt Chemicals Corp. of Cornwells Heights and the Bristol plant of the Rohm & Haas Co.

Among 95 companies receiving honor awards for working the entire year without a lost-time injury are Thiokol Chemical Corp. in Bristol Township; Victor Chemical Division of the Stauffer Chemical Co., Morrisville; and the Vulcanized Rubber and Plastics Co., Morrisville.

Million Manhours

For working a million manhours without lost-time accidents, these local firms will be honored: the Forest Products Division of Owens Illinois Co., Bristol; the Thiokol Chemical Corp., Bristol Township; and the U.S. Naval Air Development Center at Johnsville.

The Fischer & Porter Co. of Warminster will be given a certificate of achievement for improving its safety performance a minimum of 10 per cent over the preceding year.

The awards will be presented by the grand award winner in the contest, the Philadelphia Fabrics and Finishes plant of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., which had no lost-time injuries during more than 10 million manhours worked by its 1,100 employees since July, 1959.

More Than One

A total of 392 firms, employing 346,121 persons, competed in the contest. Some of the companies will receive awards in more than one category.

Samuel McKay Jr. of Wilmington, Del., past chairman of the board of governors of the chamber's safety council, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon. He is also past president of the Philadelphia chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

The chairman of the inter-plant contest was William A. Mulvenna, safety director of C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc.

Rocky Trying To Stir Voters

Goldwater Moving Cautiously In Calif.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater seems to be moving with great caution during the last week of his California campaign while Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would like to rock the boat.

California Republicans will choose between those two presidential aspirants a week from today in a presidential primary giving the winner 86 GOP national convention votes.

After one day in northern California, Goldwater heads south today for San Diego and

Los Angeles — the area where his greatest strength lies. Rockefeller began a three-day swing through the same area Monday.

Goldwater ended Monday's tour by addressing a rally attended by about 10,000 who cheered almost every sentence he spoke in the Oakland Auditorium. In his three major speeches, at Redding, Sacramento and Oakland, he stuck closely to prepared texts and used some of the same language at all three places.

In the final week of the campaign, the conservative Arizona senator has scheduled no news conferences, apparently to avoid the trouble he has sometimes caused himself with answers fired from the hip.

Rockefeller wants to stir up the GOP voters in California to bring out a big vote next Tuesday. Anti-Goldwater Republicans generally believe a big turnout will be needed to defeat the Arizonan.

The Delaware Valley Eye Bank has received pledges of 50 pair of eyes in its current eye drive which began April 6.

The goal of the drive, sponsored by the tri-country District 14A of Lions International, is 5,000 pledges. Locally, the drive is sponsored by the Levittown Lions.

The eye bank, also known as The Eye Foundation of Delaware Valley, is located in Philadelphia. A non-profit organization, it was founded by a group of men affiliated with various Lions Clubs and incorporated in 1957. The primary purpose of the foundation is to furnish eyes to doctors and hospitals for restoring sight to blind persons.

method for restoring sight is the corneal transplant in which the cornea, or window, from a donated eye is substituted for a scarred or diseased cornea. Donated eyes are also used for many other kinds of sight restoration operations.

According to the foundation, there are over 30,000 blind people in the United States whose sight could be restored through corneal transplants.

Those wishing to donate their eyes after death can fill in pledge forms and send them to the eye foundation.

An eye bank sub station for collection and immediate transplanting of donated eyes is at Lower Bucks County Hospital. It is sponsored jointly by the Levittown and Falls Township Lions.

Cattlemen Bellowing

Customers Go On Steak Diet, Meat Market Mgrs. Sizzling

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — Abilene supermarkets are modern in every respect these days except the price of beef.

The reason is a beef price war that has trimmed the cost of chuck roast to 25 cents a pound and sirloin steak to 49 cents a pound.

Customers have gleefully gone on steak diets while supermarket managers and meat market operators are sizzling like backyard barbecues. Cattlemen are bellowing louder than some of their steers.

No one seems to know how or why the price war got started, but most seem to agree that there is no end in sight.

Cattlemen in the area say the war is the fault of oversupply and heavy imports of foreign beef. Store managers, who are bearing the brunt of the price slashing, do not necessarily agree.

Ray Wemple, plant manager for an Abilene packing company, said he hopes the war stops and the market returns to normal. But he said he sees no end right now.

The manager of a market said he is losing money rapidly and called the prices he was forced to sell at the lowest in his 16 years in the business. He said he knew another man "a lot older than I am and he said it was the lowest he's seen since the great depression."

A spokesman for one of the area's chain stores said there is every indication the war is spreading and Wemple said it looked like the price trimming will show up soon in nearby cities.

If it does, other cities likely to have cheap beef for a while are San Angelo, Midland and Odessa.

Store owners insist they are selling only top quality, government inspected beef and although cattlemen claim imports are the reason for the low prices, imported beef is not among that being sold at reduced rates.

Four Hurt In Twp. Accidents

Three persons were injured in early-morning traffic accidents today in Bristol Township.

A Philadelphia couple was hurt at 3:40 a.m. when its car went off State Road and crashed into a Philadelphia Electric pole near Route 413.

Admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital were Robert T. Hagan, 40, of 924 W. Lindley Ave., driver, who suffered possible concussion and multiple lacerations, and his wife, Mary, 37, possible head injuries and fractured left leg. Mrs. Hagan's condition was described as "fair" while her husband's is "satisfactory."

They were taken to the hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

Pastor's Study Looted Of $35

Last Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. James Zimmerman, custodians at St. Paul's Evangelical United Lutheran Church, 501 Wistar Road, Fairless Hills, noticed two young boys riding away from the church on their bicycles.

At the time the Zimmermans didn't think much about it. But today, they realize a burglary may have been in the making at the time.

Yesterday, Rev. Wilmert H. Wolf Jr., pastor, told Bristol Township police $35 in change had been taken from his study where intruders had strewn papers about his desk.

Police said the thieves had climbed atop a garbage pail to climb through a rear window of the church.

Morrisville Cuts Outside Water Usage

A warning on limited use of water was issued over the weekend to Morrisville residents by Borough Manager Robert H. Steward.

He asked all residents to limit watering their lawns to a two-hour period in the evening. Steward said a restriction will be placed on outside use of water all other hours, except 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The water ban goes into effect today. Steward noted that the borough pumps were having a difficult time keeping the borough supplied with enough water, which is now entering its peak usage period.

He said a total of 1,500 gallons an hour are being lost from the reserve supply.

Steward said a new pump, recently put into operation, was unable to keep up with the water demands in the borough.

He also said that a well, another source of supply, usually runs six hours a day but last Friday ran 22 hours because of the excess use.

Steward blamed the population explosion for the extra use of water and said something will have to be done to give more water.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Diplomats looked today for the Russians to try to exploit the deepening Western rift accentuated by France in the Security Council debate on the Southeast Asia situation.

Presbyterians Study Changes

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — A six-year study on the nature of the ministry and recommendations for wide changes in the organization of the United Presbyterian Church were ready for presentation to the church's General Assembly today.

Also scheduled was a report on a compromise aimed at securing public support for federal aid to education.

Monday, the General Assembly took new steps to heal a 103-year-old split between the two largest branches of American Presbyterianism.

Responding to an action by last month's Southern Presbyterian General Assembly, United Presbyterians directed their commission on ecumenical mission and relations to name a 12-member committee to begin reunion discussions with the Southern body.

Blatt Hikes Lead To 911

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — State Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt has a 911 vote unofficial statewide lead over state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno today in their race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Miss Blatt, who entered the Philadelphia recount last week with a 54 vote statewide lead, has made a net gain every day since a recount of the city's 42nd Ward disclosed "discrepancies" in the tally and set off a citywide recount.

Mistakes also have been uncovered which boosted Musmanno's totals in some areas, but Miss Blatt has taken the large end of the gains.

Independent Candidate
Musmanno was the organization-backed candidate in the April 28 primary election. Miss Blatt ran as an independent party candidate with the support of U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark.

The winner of the primary will oppose U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., in the November election.

The total for Miss Blatt began climbing after she added 172 votes in the 42nd Ward recheck, 54 on Thursday and 162 on Friday to her previous 54 vote statewide lead. The tally gave her a weekend lead of 442 votes.
